Seminars in Neurology is a review journal on current trends in the evaluation, diagnosis, and treatment of neurological diseases. Areas of coverage include multiple sclerosis, central nervous system infections, muscular dystrophy, neuro-immunology, spinal disorders, strokes, epilepsy, motor neuron diseases, movement disorders, higher cortical function, neuro-genetics and neuro-ophthalmology. Each issue is presented under the direction of an expert guest editor, and invited contributors focus on a single, high-interest clinical topic.

Up-to-the-minute coverage of the latest information in the field makes this journal an invaluable resource for neurologists and residents.
