International Journal of Epilepsy (IJE) is an international peer-reviewed journal on epilepsy and was launched by Indian Epilepsy Association. The association has a membership of around 600, with the aim to disseminating knowledge concerning epilepsy globally, providing the latest updates on prevention, diagnosis, treatment and management of people with epilepsy, promote and encourage research on epilepsy, and reflect the social and psychological burden and impact of epilepsy on people and society at large. IJE publishes both basic science and clinical papers bi-annually addressing various aspects of epilepsy. The journal is directed at neurologists, neurosurgeons, neuropsychiatrists, neuroradiologists, and pediatric epileptologist involved in the research and treatment of a broad range of neurological disorders and focuses on investigations addressing clinical neurology, neurosurgery, neuropsychiatry, neuropsychology, neurophysiology, neuropharmacology, neuroimaging, epilepsy therapeutics, and historical aspects of epilepsy in Ayurveda and homeopathy.
